HE WANTED A BOY.

Father Charged with Throwing Old Girl to Death.

Frank Krejcek, a Bohemian, living at No. 213 East 73d st., is a prisoner charged with homicide, and Mrs. Sarah Rice, of No. 213 East 73d st., and Mrs. Margaret O'Leary, of No. 217 East 73d st., are held by the police as witnesses.

These arrests are the outcome of a drunken debauch among a number of Bohemians, ending in the deliberate murder, it is alleged, of a newly born daughter of Krejcek.

Mrs. Krejcek's child was born about 7 o'clock this morning. She had no medical attention. Mrs. Rice alone being with her. At 9 o'clock Krejcek, who is a burly, muscular man, came in intoxicated. It is alleged, and ugly. Mrs. Rice and Mrs. O'Leary, who were present at that time, it is said, were also intoxicated. Krejcek, the two women told the police, began to abuse his wife, and then seized his newly born infant by the legs, swung the body about his head and threw it into the next room, where it struck a couch, and was almost instantly killed. Krejcek, it is said, had been wishing for a boy, and the birth of a daughter made him a demon.

ILL WEDDING DELAYED.

Former Brooklyn Girl Stricken with Partial Blindness.

Stamford, Conn., June 9.—Miss Ethel C. Ford, daughter of Mrs. W. F. Ford, formerly of Brooklyn, is shut up in a dark room to-night, on the eve of the date fixed for her wedding to George A. Jenkins, of Stamford, a son of the late George W. A. Jenkins. One of Miss Ford's eyes is sightless.

The cause of the illness puzzles the surgeons. It followed a trip in Mr. Jenkins's automobile.

The young woman's illness has caused the postponement of the wedding. The marriage was to have taken place to-morrow afternoon, and great preparations had been made. Mr. Jenkins is the wealthy young man who was once engaged to Miss Genevieve Hecker, the former girl champion.
